Scope

This document applies to all applications submitted to CADTH for the provision of CADTH Scientific Advice. This document must be read in conjunction with the information and documents on the CADTH Scientific Advice website.

Background

The CADTH Scientific Advice Program is a voluntary, fee-for-service consultation offered to pharmaceutical companies. Through this program, CADTH offers advice on early drug development plans from a Canadian health technology assessment perspective.

CADTH Scientific Advice is offered at an early point in the drug development process. This provides pharmaceutical companies with an opportunity to adjust their development plans based on CADTH Scientific Advice.

This section provides information on the fee, how the fee is charged, and guidance on payment and refunds.

Fee Schedule

The fee for CADTH Scientific Advice ranges from $80,000 to $125,000 based on the scale of the project. All fees are in Canadian dollars and are subject to applicable taxes (GST/HST or QST).

The total fee will be determined following submission of the Briefing Book. A Final Fee Letter and updated fee schedule will be provided within 2 weeks following the Briefing Book submission.

Fee Schedule for CADTH Scientific Advice

CADTH also accepts payment by electronic funds transfer (EFT) to the bank account stipulated on CADTH's invoice.

Payment of Fees

All fees are due within 30 calendar days of receipt of invoice or the due date noted on the invoice. If payment is not received when due, the following steps will occur:

- A reminder will be provided that indicates that payment is past due. It is the sole responsibility of the applicant to pay any fees by the due date and, although CADTH may in its discretion send reminders of unpaid fees, it shall not be obligated to do so.
- If payment remains outstanding 15 calendar days after the due date, all work will be temporarily suspended. Once work is suspended, there is no assurance that the CADTH Scientific Advice will be prepared on schedule to meet the original deadline. If CADTH Scientific Advice work has been temporarily suspended due to the nonpayment of fees, CADTH makes no commitments or guarantees as to:
  - the date on which such work will be resumed
  - the date of the CADTH Scientific Advice meeting as originally planned.
- Once payment in full is received, CADTH will resume its work on the suspended CADTH Scientific Advice application as soon as it can be reasonably accommodated based on available resources and application volumes.

Acceptable forms of payment include EFT, wire transfers, cheques, money orders, and international bank drafts. Only Canadian funds are accepted.

The preferred method of receiving payment is by EFT or wire payments. These payments will be accepted only when provided in Canadian funds per the instructions provided on the invoice.

Please include your company name, product name, and invoice number with any EFT or wire payments.

Cheques, money orders, and international bank drafts should be payable to the "Canadian Agency for Drugs and Technologies in Health" or to "CADTH." Cheques drawn from non-Canadian banks must be issued in coordination with a referenced Canadian bank (that is, referenced on the cheque), otherwise, they will not be accepted. As previously noted, the work will be temporarily suspended if insufficient fees are received. Payment by a cheque not cleared through the CADTH bank account due to insufficient funds (i.e., NSF) will be considered outstanding. Any fees associated with the NSF cheque incurred by CADTH will be charged to the applicant. Any other fees associated with stop-payment requests, closed-account fees, or any other such charges will also be charged back to the applicant. Postdated payments will not be accepted. Any overpayments will be refunded to the applicant.

Fee Schedule for CADTH Scientific Advice

Please ensure that all service charges, including fees charged by your bank or any intermediary banks, are covered by your payment. CADTH is not responsible for any fees charged during the transfer process. Failure to pay the full outstanding amount will result in a balance owing on your account. Any payments sent in non-Canadian funds will be rejected.

Refunds of Fees

Except as expressly provided for in these guidelines, the fees are nonrefundable regardless of the final advice provided.

As payments are invoiced on a milestone basis, no refunds are provided. Any invoice issued will be considered owing to CADTH, should the applicant withdraw before rendering payment.

Deferred Fees and Fee Exemptions

Fees for CADTH Scientific Advice are not eligible for any deferral or exemptions.
